

Kyl grew up on a large family farm in North Dakota and continued to work the land while attending the University of North Dakota. He has lived in Platte City, MO for over 20 years and knows the Platte County area very well. Kyl spends his time with the many activities that his 3 daughters are involved in. He still enjoys going back home and revisiting his family farm roots. Kyl is dedicated and will work hard to assure your primary needs are met, whether it is land, residential or commercial.
