More about us...

Marketing & Networking

Our Sales team is constantly trying to improve the quality of marketing options by attending various groups, associations, seminars and training to insure we are keeping up with the competition.

Continuing Education

Our Property managers and our construction contractors must comply with each states regulations regarding any certifications, licenses and C.E. Credits.

Technology

C and T Services, Inc. utilizes one of the most state of the art and intuitive management software programs available. This software enables us to have unlimited access from any location, accept and transfer payments electronically, and generate detailed reports in "real-time".

Customer Service

With out customer service we are nothing. The service we offer is not rocket science and therefore we must find ways to differentiate ourselves from our competition. We have found that customer service is becoming harder to find in today's world, however we will continue to make this the backbone of our operation.

Property Management

Our Property Management division specializes in the following services for our property owners and tenants:

- State-of-the-Art management software insuring efficiency for our tenants and our property owners
- Marketing your property with creative ads and curb appealing photos
- Showing your property
